

A. Brainstorming

Answer the following questions in your document:

1. Brainstorm ideas of problems you want to solve with software like an app or website. Include all the problems you came up with in your document.

- Communicating with fish
- Interstellar travel
- Plushie product
- Mascot brand

2. Brainstorm ways to solve the problems. Include all the solutions you came up with in your document.

- Headgear that allow you to talk to fish
- Travel planning website that helps aliens buy tickets to different planets
- I could make a small branding design that has merch that they sell and do collabs with other products

3. Choose one of your ideas as your product that you will turn into a website for this course. Why did you pick this idea over the other candidates?

I like the idea of a travel website that helps aliens plan vacation holidays on different planets and solar systems

4. Is your idea a new one or has it existed before?

It's a mixture of an already existing concept with a fantastical spin.

5. What industry would your idea be useful in? Why? (i.e., advertising, apparel, arts, automotive, cosmetics, education, entertainment, food, etc.)

Travel, advertising, trip planning, and entertainment.

B. Product Proposal

Answer the following questions in your document:

1. Describe the product you have come up with and the type(s) of ideas that apply to it.

I would have a travel website that aliens from different planets can use to plan trips for vacations or to other planets. This would include resorts and hotels that you can look at in the specific region you are trying to travel to.

2. How is your product personally relevant to you? Are you or is someone close to you connected to the idea or the related problem?

I like to travel and I really like world building for original characters, so I think this would be super fun.

3. What problem will your product solve?

The alien planet travel crisis

4. What type of website will your product be? (i.e., blog, business, brochure, etc.)

It will probably be a business/informational website that looks like an interactive directory.

5. Is your product a painkiller or a vitamin? That is, does it address users' needs or emotions? Why?

I think it would be a great way for overworked aliens and aliens on a budget to find affordable and wonderful vacation experiences.

6. Is your product easy to monetize?

I think so as I want to have some kind of description and rating systems for each places

7. Is your product simple and easy to describe?

I think it is easy to describe, but also invites people to want to learn more about it.

8. Who will be the likely users of your product? Does your product have a large market?

Probably very tired and well off aliens looking for the best planet to vacation (or maybe live) on.

9. Does your product have a legitimate secret sauce?

I don't really know what that means but there is definitely a method to using my product if that is what you mean.
